HSBC Bank Malaysia has renewed its contract with Cofreth (M) Sdn Bhd for a comprehensive range of facilities management services for its 19-storey headquarters in Jalan Ampang, Kuala Lumpur, for another three years.

One of the leading facilities management solutions providers in the country, Cofreth provides building engineering maintenance, housekeeping services such as cleaning, pest control and waste disposal, energy management and project management to HSBC. The company, in which IJM Corp Bhd is a shareholder, sees the contract renewal as a show of HSBC's continued confidence in outsourcing and in the capabilities of the service provider.

HSBC's property division head Suzie Lim has been quoted as outlining the importance of choosing the right solutions partner, "one that has the experience and knowhow within its resources to add value and complement the goals of your organisation".

According to Cofreth's chief executive officer Ong Ching Loon, the company is one of the most established specialists in facilities management and energy services in the country. "We have 19 years of learning experience as well as technical knowledge and the right resources to complement our customers' needs," he said. "This contract renewal is a stamp of our mark of excellence in managing prime properties."

Cofreth has for the past 18 years been receiving technology transfer from the world-renowned firm of infrastructure and energy experts. Suez and Tractebel of France. It has also achieved the MS IS 9002 and MS ISO 9001:2000 certifications.
